God's Provisions

The tires roll a steady hum. Trees pass by like statues lined up for a parade.

It's 1:00 am and we're heading home from presenting our ministry for Whispering Winds Bible Camp.

A friend from college pastors a church in Maryland and has graciously allowed us a few moments with his church family.

A quick stop in Cumberland, MD

Playing on a very old Caboose

Since that Sunday we have shared in churches and ministries from Indiana to Maryland.

We are currently at 30% of our needed $3225 monthly support. Praise God!

But we can't help our fellow laborers at Whispering Winds Bible Camp until we are much closer to 100%. Does God want you to help us get there?

Still Serving in WV

It's 120' feet from top to bottom, 900' above the raging current, 15 minutes and Hannah at Gettysburg*

from any kind of help, and Bruce gets to call it work.

WV offers some of the most incredible views of God's Creative work. It's been another summer of incredible ministry with Alpine Ministries.

Pray for Ricki (a girl) and Josh. They need to know Jesus Christ as Friend and Savior.

We also count it an honor to serve at Mount Tabor Baptist Church.

We look forward to how God will allow us to impact these teens for Him. Pray for humble servant hearts as we also disciple the college students who work with us.

Ministering in our Home

We are so thankful that we have the most loving Heavenly Father. He loves our children more than we do. It's so good to have Him on our side.

Bryan is considering sharing an apartment with a guy. Good grief, this is the kid we changed diapers on just a few days ago, right? Nate has outgrown his Dad and is trying to outgrow him in muscle mass. :) Caleb was stretched as a CEF missionary this summer. Kaitie is 10-going-on-25 along with several other girls in the neighborhood. Sethie, as we always say, is, well, Sethie. Hard to catch and harder to explain.
